Dissensions Continue in the Populis Camp-The Catorites Now Denounce ing Cannon as a Traitor-The Legislature.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12. — [Special.] The principal item of political importance that transpired here today was the test vote in the Senate on Carpenter's amendment to the House concurrent resolution No. 4. The resolution called for a joint meeting of both houses in the Assembly chamber on Friday, the 13th inst., to elect five library trustees. The Republicans have so far made no nominations, but the Democrats have fixed up a slate favorable to the reten tion of Dana Perkins, the present librarian. Senator Carpenter's amendment to postpone final action until Wednes day next was carried by a party vote As this is the day when the joint ballo will be taken on the United States Sen ator, it is presumed the Republican policy of delay was to postpone the show of strength the Democrats would make in electing their trustees, as several Republican members are claimed favor

THE DEMOCRATIC PROGRAMME. Stephen M. White will be nominated n the Senate by Seawell of Glenn and econded by Mathews of Los Angeles In the House Shanahan of Shasta will nominate and Finlayson of Los Angeles will second. In the joint convention Senator Goucher of Fresno will nominate and Senator Gesford of Napa and Representative Schlesinger of San Francisco will second. As these gentlemen are all orators of conceded ability a packed chamber and gallery is ex able to Perkins.

CARLSON IS INDIGNANT. Representative Carlson, on being hown the statement in the San Diego column of THE TIMES of January 9, in which he (Carlson) is said to have stated to your correspondent in that city that he would vote for White, today denounced it as an utter falsehood. He claims not to have expressed his intentions to any one, and that he is still unpledged and does not fully know yet for whom he will cast his vote for Senator. He claims that in cooperating Cincorporated,)

POPULIST DISSENSIONS The Populist camp is still the scene of disturbance. The dissension as outlined in these dispatches last night is gradually approaching a critical point. State Chairman Wardall, who lives in Monrovia, is the leader of the straight Catorites, while Cannon, who is being openly denounced in certain quarters as a traitor to the party, still adheres to his determination that under the circumstances the Populist members should support White.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP.

The Committees of Both Houses Begin ning to Take Hold SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12 .- [By the Associated Press.] The number of bills in-troduced in the Legislature today was about the same as yesterday, but the majority of them were of less importance. Members are hampered in their committee work by lack of the printed bills, and it is not expected that much can be done by the committees until the middle of next week. The Committee on Public Morals, Mr. Biedsoe, chair-man, and the Indiciary Committee, Mr. man, and the Judiciary Committee, Mr.

Shauahan, chairman, have been most active of the Assembly committees up to this time. The Senate committees have not yet fairly got to work.
Messrs. Ostrom, Hart and Carpenter

In the Assembly today much of the time was taken up in discussing the matter of appointing additional clerks and employes of the Assembly or com-mittees. Mr. Shanahan enlivened the proceedings by his references to the Speaker's rulings, but when the Speaker called upon the sergeant-at-arms to quiet the Shasta member the latter remembered the deference to authorit and took his seat, although still protest ing against the decisions of the Chair. The Republican Senatorial caucus this afternoon nominated several Senatorial attaches. The Assembly Judiciary Committee held an important meeting tonight, and decided to report be a favorably to the House the bill amendatory of the act for the punishment for the intimidation or the defrauding of electors, with an amendatory of the control of the con amendment making it a felony instead of a misdemeanor; also the bill relative to the reassessment and collection of railroad taxes invalid for any reason since 1882; also the "Scalper Bill" of the last session with an amendment the last session with an amendment making it applicable only to lines within the State.

The Assembly Committee on Corpora tions met and had a general discussion of the Shanahan and Schlesinger railroad resolution and the Bretz Insurance Bill, but took no action. It was de-cided that the Traffic Association's bill, presented by Godchaux, turning over to the Legislature the power to fix rail-road rates, should be taken up for discussion immediately after it is printed.

that Arsenic was -Administered. PITTSBURGE, Jan. 12 .- [By the Asso ciated Press | The trial of Hugh Dempsey, District Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, J. N. Davidson and Robert Beatty, charged with poisoning non-union workmen in the Homestead steel mills, began here today. Beatty is accused of having arranged with Davidson and other cooks at the mills to administer poison, which, it is alleged, Dempsey furnished. The defense endeavored at the start unsuccessfully, to secure a postpone-ment. A jury was empaneled. Then packages containing the result of analytical tests on the stomachs of men who died were brought in, and the attorney for the prosecution made the opening address, in which he told of the confession of Cook Gallagher, which led to the arrest of the accused. He said Davidson and Gallagher would tell their stories on the stand and be corroborated by other

Trial of Andreas Dominguez at Ventura-An Amusing Scene.

VENTURA, Jan. 12.—[Special.] The case of the People vs. Juan and Andreas Dominguez for stealing cattle from R. P. Strathearn of Simi was tried and concluded today, and Andreas was found guilty of grand larceny. He will be sentenced next Monday. Juan failed to answer and his bail was forteited. They are a bad pair. Andreas Dominguez is a striking, well-dressed fellow, and was already notorious as the man who ran away with a Santa Monica man's pretty wife about a year since and took her to Saticov, she refusing to return with her husband. The woman and babe were present at the trial. The general sentiment is that

Canal Bill for Coin. Charles de Lesseps Again Unmercifully

Scored by the Judge at the Trial-More Disclosures About Jobs and Boodle. By Telegraph to The Times.

New York, Jan. 12 .- [By the Associated Press. | The Paris correspondent of the Tribune says: "You will likely hear something during the next few days of a fresh attack on the President of the French republic. It has been told already that an attempt would be made to connect him with M. Baihut. When the suggestion was first offered the decent public scouted it as preposterous. But today the note is different. The attack comes from another quarter. The Radicals have fastened on it and seem disposed to make t their own. According to Charles de Lesseps, whose testimony is evidently believed by the prosecution to be true, in 1886, Baihut, then Minister of Public Works, asked him for f. 1.000,000 as the price of his support of the bill for the Panama lottery loan. De Les-seps made no mention of Carnot's name, but in 1886 De Freycinet was Prime Minister; M. Baihut was Minister of Public Works, and Carnot Minister of Finance, and the bill was brought in by M. Baihut, backed by M. Jarrien, Min-ister of the Interior, and M. Carnot, Minister of Finance. Therefore, say the authors, the money paid by De Les-seps to M. Baihut was divided by him with M. Jarrien and M. Carnot, whether for their own benefit or for the secret funds of their respective departments will never perhaps be known.

"Did political intrigue or a personal attack on a great officer of the state or the chief magistrate of a great republic ever rest on so slight a foundation? It is so slight that in ordinary times it would not support the most casual calumny, and it is believed by some men that something can be made out of the Baihut incident."

THE GREAT TRIAL

Young De Lesseps egain Gets a Terrible Castigation From the Judge. Paris, Jan. 12.—[By Cable and As-sociated Press.] The courtroom was thronged again today at the resumption of the trial of the Panama Canal de fendants.

Rossignol, accountant for the Panama company, was examined, and President Perivier remarked that the accounts must have been recast before being submitted to the expert for examination. Monchicourt, liquidator for the Panama company, deposed that Ferdinand de Lessep's disregarded all warnings, insisting on proceeding with the Panama enterprise regardless of cost. The expenses, Monchicourt stated, were excessive throughout. Monchicourt added that Baron Reinach and Levy and Cre-mieux were deputed to pay for certain upport to be given the company in its schemes, but he was certain that Reinach retained the greater part of the funds entrusted to him for that pur-

President Perivier turned to Charles de Lesseps and reproached him severel for having permitted this.

Engineer Rosseau next described the method of inspecting the canal, on which he based the famous report, which was in part suppressed. He also stated that Ferdinand de Lesseps had blind faith in his own good fortune and suppressed in the management. supreme influence in the management of the work of the canal.

The presiding judge was severe in his treatment of Charles de Lesseps. M. Monchicourt had stated that De Reinach sucked the blood of the company by ob-taining enormous sums with which to bribe senators and deputies and other influential men.
"You had no confidence in his morality," asked Judge Perivier.

"No, but he was very clever," replied
M. Monchicourt.

Turning to Charles de Lesseps, Judge Perivier inquired, sharply: "And how eid you understand that Baron Reinach used these enormous sums?"

"In remunerating financiers," an-wered De Lesseps, "and without doub swered De Lesseps, "and without doubt senators, deputies and ministers. A number of persons, however, offered assistance to Baron Reinach and M. Cremieux, who were first charged with the distribution of money."

"That is, you gave them a dirty job which you preferred not to do yourself, but provided them with the means of

Charles de Lesseps winced and looked down, but made no reply.

The first word spoken at the trial in favor of Charles de Lesseps came from Sir John Stokes, Great Britain's representative on the Suez Canal Commission who testified that he regarded Charles de Lesseps as loyal, upright and incapable of a dishonest act.

Engineer Dinglere estimated that the cutting of the Panama Canal could not have been done for less than f. 2,000,-000,000 or in fewer than fifteen or twenty years.

De Freycinet is reported to have been terribly shocked by statements from America regarding the antecedents of Herz, whom he professed to consider a person of high probity and excellent character. De Freycinet's friends cite on this subject the fact that previous to the recent exposure, the record of Herz before the chancelleric of the Legion of Honor was not only creditable but briliant, and that De Freycinet had no petter opportunities than the chancel lerie for knowing the real history of the adventurer. De Freycinet denies hav-ing gone with a slouched hat and his collar turned up about his ears to the Doctor's place, because it was not his way to do things in a meledramatic fashion, like a stage brigand.

CAPRIVI TALKING WAR.

A Somewhat Sensational Speech by the BERLIN, Jan. 12 .- By Cable and Associated Press.] Chancellor von Caprivi last night made an important argument before the committee of the Reichstag considering the Army Bill, giving reasons why it should be adopted without modification. He declared that there was no enmity between Germany and Russia, and that probably an under-standing exists between Russia and France regarding military arrangements. There was a possibility of an attack on the Triple Alliance, in which Germany, as the strongest member, would have to bear the brunt of opera-tions. Experience had shown that, tions. Experience had shown that, when war threatened, it was best for Germany to take the offensive, as it meant short wars, quick victories and lasting results. To succeed in this kind of warfare the alliance must have superior numbers. At present, in fact, the alliance had fewer numbers than the nations which might be its opponents. The government, therefore, would not be able to take the responsibility of the future defense of the country unless the armaments were increased.

In the course of his speech Von Caprivi made extended reference to the internal condition of France.
"That country," he said, "is in a state of ferment. Though there are no statesmen in the country at the present moment of such prominence as to be likely to seize the power, the proba-bility of a dictatorship is not to be excluded from German calculations.

Speaking of the renewal of the Triple Alliance upon the expiration of the present treaties, the Chancellor said that renewal, though hoped for, is not absolutely certain.

Powderly a Socialist. SCRANTON (Pa.,) Jan. 12.—General Master Workman Powderly, in an address to the union carpenters, said: I am a Socialist and say it without blushing. If the avowal brings condemnation I am willing to take it. I am one of 65,000.000 Socialists of this country. I believe railroads are public highways and should be nationalized, and that the telegraph system should be owned and operated by the Government.

TOPEKA (Kan.,) Jan. 12 .- | By the Asmittees of the two houses were unable to reach an agreement as to a settlement last-night. The Populists wanted to throw out three Republican postmasters elected and substitute Populists. This would give the Populists a clear majority, and of course the Republicans would not give in, so the conference adjourned. Other conferences were held this morning, but without result, and both houses met at the appointed time. Neither attempted to do any business Mrs. Lease was present and encouraged the Populists to stand firm. The Republicans today completed preparations for bringing mandamus proceedings in the Supreme Court to compel the Secre-tary of State to turn over the papers in the contested cases. During roll call by the Republican House this afternoon the Democratic members announced that they had held aloof as long as it was proper for them to do so, but now, believing the Repub-lican House the only properly organized one, they would recognize it as such. The announcement was received with wild demonstrations by the Republi cans. The Populists are very much de pressed.

The addition of three Democrats to the Republican membership gives the Republicans sixty-five members, a majority of five, composed of sixty-one Republicans, one Independent (Wilson, and three Democrats. The excitement caused by the action of the Democrats soon subsided and the monotony of wait ing for further developments was resumed. The plan that the Senate rec-ognize the Populist, House by resolution and the Governor in a message recognize it, miscarried, the Senate adjourning without taking action. The Gover-nor did not hear of this, however, until his message was started out. Populists in the House cheered loudly when it was received, while its reading was received with catcalls from the Republican side. Some minor resolutions were then offered on the Republican side, and roll call ordered on them showed that sixtyseven members answered to their names.

Shortly after reading the Governor's message both houses adjourned until tomorrow. The Republicans in cancus decided to assemble as usual in the morning and await developments. The Senate has decided to recognize the

When the Senate reas-sembled a motion was made to discharge the committee and recog-nize the Populists by adopting a formal resolution to that effect. The motion aroused an animated discussion. During the debate news came from the House that the three Democrats of that body had joined the Republicans. The effect was to cause the Senators to proceed slowly. All' Republican Senators opposed the discharge of the committee, and the Democrats sided with the Republicans. Pending the discussion, Leady (Pop.) moved an adjournment with the program which was carried.

By Telegraph to The Times. WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 .- [By the Asso ciated Press. | Both the House and the Senate soon after meeting, and without transacting any business, took a recess to attend the funeral of the late Senator Kenna of West Virginia. The body of the late Senator was conveyed to the Capitol this morning in the midst of a blinding snowstorm. Members of the family having taken a farewell view before the body left the residence, the casket was not opened.

In spite of the storm outside the galleries were crowded before the opening services. The bier was placed at the head of the main aisle of the Senate chamber, and members of the lower house entered, led by Speaker Crisp, who took his place beside the Vice-President. Gen. Schofield arrived unannounced and took a seat at the end of the row reserved for the President and the row reserved for the President and the row reserved for the President and his Cabinet. BLAINE'S CONDITION.

Ie Grows Weaker and the Anxiety of His Family is Renewed Washington, Jan. 12 .- By the Associated Press.] Blaine was reported much improved this morning.

Early this evening a messenger was hastily dispatched for both Drs. Johnston and Hyatt. Young Mr. Blaine was also quickly summoned. This, taken in connection with evidences of unusual commotion about the family residence, ed newspaper men to believe that Blaine had suffered a serious relapse. After twenty minutes' consultation, Dr. Johnston left the house. He stated that nothing of a positively serious nature had occurred, and Blaine's condition was practically unchanged. He stated that whenever any symptoms developed that might be construed by the attendants as unfavorable, the physicians were immediately notified, but this did not indicate a change for the worse. Dr. Hyatt said the trouble was the difficulty the invalid experienced in breathing. The attendant supposed breathing. The attendant supposed the labored respiration was caused by an attack of heart failure, but the heart was found not to be affected. Medicine was administered and the un-

SAN DIEGO. The Cedros Island Mining Venture—The Quarrel About the Jettles, Maj. Levi Chase and several other of our San Diego capitalists left for Ensenada on the steamer Monday evening. It is not known just exactly what took them there, but it is supposed to be in connection with the new Cedros Island mining venture. The affairs of the latter are moving quietly along, and the first steamer will start in about a week or ten days. Two old sea captains are down here from San Fran-cisco looking for positions on the new steamers. Harry Howard will go to San Prancisco this week to engage the vessels. R. H. Dalton is in the northern part of negie, of Homestead fame, in the enterprise.

W. J. Prout, A. D. Norman, A. E. Dodson, Col. Chalmers Scott and R. V. Dodge are all in the race for poses but Grover disposes.

George Alden, a prominent railroad man from Maine, is looking at several properties here with a view to investing. He will probably buy both city and ranch property. He expresses himself as charmed with the city and its surroundings and has faith city and its surroundings, and has faith that San Diego has a great future in store for her. We all have that same faith, stood in the way of the improvement as it is to see how Babcock has favored it. San Diegans care nothing about the quarrel be-tween Babcock and Bowers, however, so the county looking after an iron mine which is said to be worth development. I he finds it to come up to the representations made he will endeavor to enlist Ca.

the appointment as postmaster at this place. So far as local preference goes, it seems to be in favor of Mr. Dodge, but this is one of the cases where man pro-enough and to spare, but it doesn't materialize worth a cent just at present.

One George Foster is said to have gone to One George Foster is said to have gone to Washington, not long since, to endeavor to pursuade Secretary Foster, a brother of his, to come to some terms with Mr. Babcock of the Coronodo Beach Company for the purchase of land necessary for the construction of the jettles at the mouth of the harbor. On his return he told a cock and bull story of how Congressman Bowers opposed him and had been the means of delaying the building of the jetty. Inasmuch as Bowers was the one who secured the appropriation for the building of the jetty, and Mr. Foster's friend, Babcock, was the one who prevented the building of the jetty by the unreasonable and exorbitant price he demanded for his land, it is almost as difficult to see how Bowers has stood in the way of the improvement as it long as we get the jetty.

The County Horticultural Association is now in session in this city. The questions to be discussed are: "What shall the fruitto be discussed are: "What shall he fruit-grower do during the next three months?"
"The orange or lemon for profit—which?"
"Lemon curing;" "Freight rates and the Nicaragua Canal." The position which shall be taken by San Diego county in World's Fair matters, and the special World's Fair exhibit to be made in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the early World's Fair exhibit to be made in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the early part of next month, will also receive attention.

At a meeting of the San Diego county bar, held in Department Three of the Superior Court on Saturday morning last, resolutions of respect to the memory of Col. A. G. Watson were adopted, and it was resolved that the bar attend the funeral of their late co-worker in a body.

Dr. Van Norman of this city is in receipt of a telegram announcing that Dr. Campbell, a homeopathic physician, has been appointed superinteneent and physician of the new asylum for the insane at San Bernardino. Dr. H. R. Arndt of this city was a candidate for the position, and his many friends here sincerely hoped that he would get the appointment, but fate and Dr. Van Norman were against him and he succumbed to the combination.

Annie Besant, the lecturer on theosophy, will speak here on Wednesday evening. The indications are for a full house.

The County Board of Supervisors, in its effort to be economical, has apparently gone a little too far in the matter of stationery. When the time arrived for opening the bids for furnishing the county with stationery no bids were found to have been received, but our two leading stationers were there and stated that the board had cut the prices down so that there was no profit in it and that they could not afford to bid at all under the circumstances. Thereat the board scratched its official head and ordered bids readvertised for.

AT THE OPERAHOUSE-Incog.

THE New York Sun has undertaken the task of showing that Mr. Murphy of United States Senatorship, is just as big potatoes and just as many in the to be succeeding admirably in this, but it has not yet made up a satisfactory answer to a carping Republican con temporary as to why a man better than either Cleveland or Murphy should not be chosen.

THE work of patching up the weak places in the interstate commerce law has already been undertaken by the United States Senate. A bill already excused from testifying on the ground that he might criminate himself, but that he shall be relieved from the penalty after thus testifying. This will secure testimony from shippers, upon which railroad companies may be convicted of violations of the law.

THERE is a loud call from eastern centers of civilization for a law which will compel Congressmen who draw pay from the Government to earn their money. Many of them are not in their seats half the time that Congress is in session, and frequently that body, after transacting business for an hour or so. is obliged to adjourn for lack of a quorum. It might not be a bad idea to establish something like factory regulations, and pay according to the timekeeper's report.

ANDREWS's bill for an adjustment of the silver question by ordering the coining of all the stored-up bullion in the treasuary vaults into silver dollars may be an acceptable thing to bi-metallists generally, but the clause attached to it looking to the retirement of Government money, and the substitution therefor of national bank notes will not meet with popular favor. The sentiment of the country is strongly in favor of the Gavernment issuing its money, without calling in any intermediaries. So long as Uncle Sam has to be responsible for it, he might as well secure all the benefits of it.

A New York fireman caught six children dropped to him one at a time from an upper window of a burning building. The mother then managed to effect her own escape, but whether the fireman caught her, too, is not stated. If he did he is a daisy, and ought to have a medal from the Society of Heroic Endeavor. This prompts an Eastern exchange to suggest that a good drill for the firemen of the metropolis would be to practice catching dummy babies (made of rubber, say) from the window of a hypothetically burning building. When it comes to that, however, what's he matter with their playing ball? THE State of Washington proposes to outdo the ancient Egyptians by sending to the World's Fair the tallest monolith in the world. The Vantine Stone Company, which owns the quarry at Ten ino, offered to donate a monolith 130 feet long and of any size desired, no exceeding four feet square, free of charge and ready for shipment, if the World's Fair commissioners would transport it to Chicago. It will have to be shipped on four cars, two of which must be specially constructed, as they will carry all the weight. The matter of carrying it is being investigated by the railroad, and high officials say it will surely be carried

THE Toronto Sun is an outspoken ad vocate of Canadian alliance with the United States. In its issue of January 4 it prints its platform, which sets forth briefly that it does not favor kingeraft, but a government of the people by the people, and for the people, and that it advocates "the political union, or rather reunion, of Canada and the United States of America, and that the seven Canadian provinces enter that great confederation as seven free, sovereign States, upon terms honorable and advantageous to both peoples." It proposes a unionist convention at Ontario, to be held not later than next March, to start the ball a-rolling.

THE manifest object of the bill recently introduced in the Legislature to transfer the girls' department of the Whittier School to the old institution for feeble-minded in Santa Clara county is to divert a part of the appropriation from Southern California and give it to a northern county. There are two od reasons against establishing a reorm school for girls at the place indicated. One is that the institution in Santa Clara county was not built for the purpose and is illy adapted to the requirements. Another is that it is within an hour's ride of San Francisco, and the hoodlum influences of that city would be brought to bear upon the inmates in a very undesirable way. If the girls at Whittier are not properly ted for now, the best thing to do s to put up another building for them there and keep the institution all under e management. That will be the ore economical and the more satisfac-

The Basic Principles at Homestead A little brochure entitled "The Lessons of the Homestead Troubles," by Z. S. Holbrook of Chicago, comes the nearest of any publication we have seen to divesting the issues of the great strike of all passion and prejudice and discussing them on an abstract basis of New York, Tammany's aspirant for the reason and equity. It treats, without cant or demagogism, a great question which is still before the American peohill as Mr. Cleveland himself. It seems ple, and which must occupy a large share of their attention until public sentiment shall have crystallized into law, and law shall be supported in a way to give to every citizen the rights vouchsafed him by the national federation. Mr. Holbrook holds that the struggle at Homestead was a fight to the finish between the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and the Carnegie company. Only one vital principle was at stake passed provides that no person can be the contest, namely, the right of a man to work in a factory where a union had ordered a strike, or, reversed, the right of an employer to hire whom he pleases to work for him. The strike was not really a question of wages, or rules, or hours, or time of making contracts, but it was an attempt to corner the labor market at that particular place until the company would be compelled to accede to the terms of the association. This they determined to do by peaceable means if possible; by forcible neans if necessary. The association of union men made preparation to enforce their demands, and, if necessary, to attack property, reputation and life, the three great natural rights of man. The disastrous result is a matter of history. When the contest was on, attempts were made to blind the eves of the public to the real question at issue and to smuggle into popular thought unimportant and side issues wholly misleading and irrelevant. Such was the appeal to prejudice against millionaires and their alleged attempt to reduce the wages of poor workmen. Such was the falsehood about the barbed wire fence and the electrical current passing through it to kill intruders. The fence had been around the works since they were built. and the wire over the top was not passed through non-conductors (insulations,) while the numerous gate openings would break any current of electricity. Such was the sentimental sophistry about the men who had worked in the establishment having acquired a vested interest in it or a vested right to their employment.

The company refused to arbitrate the dispute after the strike had commenced, because twice before it had done so and the association had refused to abide by the decision of the referees. The leaders of the association, in the opinion of the company, had broken faith before, and were unreliable.

The strike had no just basis on the ground of "starvation wages," because the skilled workmen had been earning from $5 to $25 per day, and many a ian, unable to write his name, made his mark for $100 per week wages, owned his own home, had a good bank deposit and kept a horse and carriage. Compare this with the salaries of our judges, of college presidents, professors, lawyers or clergymen. The men who really did suffer from the strike were the unskilled men, so called, who, from sympathy or fear, went out to re turn only at the bidding of the skilled laborers, and who were promised support for their action, but have never been paid for their folly.

The whole question, then, was one of coercion on the part of the unions-coercion of the company and coercion of fellow-laborers in a supposably free market.

Hon. George Ticknor Curtis, one of the ablest constitutional lawyers in the country and a Democrat, summarizes as

The owners of the mills had a perfect legal right to employ any neces-sary number of men to defend their property.

2. All the acts of the Pinkerton men at Homestead were lawful.

8. The killing of the Pinkerton men by the strikers was murder. 4. All who stood by, sympathizing with and encouraging the strikers, or not exerting themselves to prevent the strikers, who were armed, from firing on the barges, were accessories to the

Mr. Holbrook quotes from the Declaration of Independence that well-known principle about the inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. He quotes from Cleveland's letter of acceptance that "The protection of the people in the use and enjoyment of their property and earnings concededly constitutes the especial purpose and mission of our free Government.' He also quotes from Hon. William C. Oates, chairman of the Investigating Committee at Homestead, as follows:

The right of any man to labor upon whatever terms he and his employer agree, whether he belongs to a labor organization or not, and the right of a corporation or person to employ any one to labor in a lawful business, is se-cured by the laws of the land. In this free country these rights must not be defined or abridged. To do so would be to destroy that personal freedom which has ever been the just pride and boast of American citizens. And yet, notwithstanding these theo-

he pleases, or from enjoying the fruits of his toil as he sees fit. Mr. Holbrook lays down the following fundamental principles, which, we think, are sound

1. Work is a blessing, not a curse.
2. The greatest philanthropist is he who furnishes employment to others.
3. Aggregations of capital are beneficial to society, as they reduce the cost of production.
4. Capital and labor are partners, but capitalists and laborers are not.

5. Labor must choose between the certainty of wages and the vicissitudes and risks of profit and loss.

6. Having chosen wages as his part, when wages are paid the obligations of capital cease, except such as pertain to the domain of private conscience.

7. The obligations of capital to share profits with labor are no greater than those of others to share their surplus

No man can show authority for dictating to capital its duty to labor when agreed wages have been paid. 9. Honesty, industry and thrift are the basic elements of wealth.

10. The capitalists of today were the wage-earners of yesterday, and the laborer of today can become the capitalist of tomorrow.

Fina'ly—Man has an inherent and inalienable right to labor, and this right must not be interfered with by mions or strikers. These are sound, basic principles, to trample upon which is to deny the guarantees of the Constitution and to outrage the rights of American citizens.

How Epidemics Travel It is advisable for the United States to take every precaution against the importation of cholera next summer, but it is possible that, with all of these precautions established, the cholera may come. One feature of the spread of great contagions, and probably the overruling feature, we have not seen discussed. That is the atmospheric wave, or whatever it may be that carries disease, which sweeps around the world from east to west. Everybody remembers how, two or three years ago, an epidemic of la grippe started in Asia, swept westward over Europe, finally reached the United States, and made its way to the Pacific Coast. say that these epidemics simply follow the established lines of travel does not fully meet the case. If this were so they would be as apt to travel to the East as to the West. Last summer numerous cases of cholera were introduced or developed among newcomers in this country, but the disease did not spread, probably because the atmospheric conditions to foster it were not present. If the supposed wave shall have crossed the ocean by next summer the epidemic may then make its appearance in a menacing way. Against this sort of an inroad no adequate measures of protection can be taken, but this emphasizes the neces sity for every community to adopt all the sanitary safeguards. Cholera under any circumstances is encouraged by filth. With proper sanitation the med ical faculty are able to cope with it quite successfully. There is every reason why health departments all over the country should have their part of the work well in hand before there is a chance for the scourge to get a foothold here. A BILL is pending to extend to mail carriers the privilege of riding free on the street car lines of all cities. In Los Angeles, we believe, this privilege is granted by courtesy of the street car companies. It ought to be so all over AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES

GRAND OPERABOUSE-A fairly well filed house greeted Mrs. Pacheco's bright comg, at the Grand last night, as pre sented by Charles Dickson and his wellbalanced company of players.

The Salt Cellar, a clever bit from the German, was given as a curtain-raiser, and it played by Mr. Dickson Mand Haslam and Gustav York. This little one act comedy is true to life in depicting with act comedy is true to life in depicting with what ease a newly-married couple can quarrel over as small a matter as the upsetting of a salt cellar at dinner. Mr. Dickson as the young husband played with much naturalness and with rare good taste. His quiet, off-hand manner makes his assumption of the rôle very pleasing. Miss Haslam is as dainty a little woman as one sees in a day's travel, and was thoroughly effective as a foil to Mr. Dickson. She acted with spirit and made the scene so real that no doubt many a man in the audience was reminded that a man in the audience was reminded that made the scene so real that no doubt many a man in the audience was reminded that he had been through experiences that were almost duplicates of the one being presented on the stage. Mr. York, as the blundering old uncle, was very clever.

Incop has been seen here before, and has lost none of its charm. It kept the house shricking with laughter last night almost continuously through its three acts. While it is full of impossible situations, and while no one is deceived except those made blind by the exigencies of the play, it is very bright and was decidedly well handled by the company. Mr. Dickson has a manner that well fits him for the rôle of "Tom Stanhope," and he makes the most of the part. Miss Haslam was excellently cast as "Kate Armitage," his sweetheart. Ed J. Connelly made a very good "Gen. Stanhope," and the other members of the company played with such intelligence as to was the the entire performance. pany played with such intelligence as to make the the entire performance most en-tertaining. The same bill will be given to-night and also tomorrow afternoon, and also eventug, except that the curtain-raiser will be The Man About Town.

The Bates & Morse Advertising Agency The old established New York Advertising agency of J. H. Bates, No. 38 Park Row; which has been in existence for nearly forty years, has been changed by the advent of Lyman D. Morse, Mr Bates's old manager, into a partner-ship in the Bates & Morse Advertising Agency. This is one of the best-known establishments in its line in the country, and none stands higher. With the advent of new blood into the institution, it will doubtless go on bringing advertisers and newspapers together with greater success than ever.

The Stone Relics of an Extinct Race.

Archmological Researches on the Beautiful Island.

How the Aborigines Made Their Household Utensils.

Scientific Exp edition to Investigate the Mineral Treasures and Buried Relles of an Ancient

There is to be a revival of interest in Santa Catalina Island as a field for archæological research. Beneath the surface of that rugged and isolated portion of Los Angeles county are treasures to delight the scientific student of races that inhabited the charming island long before the white man saw it. Discoveries of relics of an extinct race have been made from time to time on the island, and specimens found in the mountain caves, in mounds and graves have found their way to the greatest collections in this co An investigation of the island's store of relice and minerals was begun last Saturday by a party which left Los Angeles on that day. Dr. J. Weiss Hortter, ex-mineral commissioner of Colo-rado, now attached to the California Mineralogical Department, went over to Catalina, accompanied by Hancock Banning and a member of THE TIMES staff, commissioned to make a thorough investigation of the archæological and mineralogical treasures of the island. The ground has been gone over often by prospectors looking for gold and silver, but the economic minerals had been hitherte ignored by the persons who were impressed with the idea that only two kinds of ore were worth taking out of the earth. For these former prospectors the stone utensils now and the unearthed and the ont-cropping ledges of soapstone were no attraction, and hey went unnoticed.

At Avalon the exploring party was augmented by several volunteer citizens, and, in the steamer Falcon, a cruise was made toward the northern end of the island. The party first disembarked at a point now called Emerald Bay, where phosphorescent jelly fish and shoals of finny creatures can be seen swimming twenty feet be-low the water's surface, and the won-derful growth of seaweed is visible on the sandy, shell-bedecked bottom. Nearby is a projecting ledge of steatitic rock where excavations have been made to where excavations have been made to uncover and remove quantities of soapstone, which can be put to so many uses. Into this excavation at once plunged Dr. Hortter and a mineralogist named Baker, fon Baitimore, both eager to examine specimens of the various colored strata which is here exposed to the light. No signs of antiquities were found here, but near by are numerous Indian graves, which had yielded up quantities of curiosities pertaining to the Indians—stone implements, shell amulets, bone tools and wampum—and a little further inland, where a prosa little further inland, where a pros-pecting hole had been dug, were various signs of former occupation by an ex-tinct race.

From Emerald Bay the party sailed southward again, past the isthmus to what is called Empire Landing. From this point the exploring party made a long and arduous climb up the mountain to Pots Valley, so called from the fact that here the Indians made their water jars, cooking utensils, mortars for pounding grain, and the many articles they used grain, and the many articles they used in their household. Pottery of baked clay seems to have been unknown to the aborigines of Catalina Island. Their ollas, pots, mortars and similar vessels they had dug out of solid soapstone, a material susceptible of being cut to any shape, but requiring great patience for the operation. From the unfinished for the operation. From the unfinished specimens found here it is seen that the Indians, the squaws, of course, by in-finite patience and perseverance, were wont to cut out rude circular blocks from the massive ledges of rock, to be afterward hollowed rounded and shaped by the same slow process and primitive tools. Broken and unfinished mortars and pots strewn about bear evidence to disappointments caused by the splitting of the stone beneath the worker's hands while it was being fashioned for its household use. These accidents may have brought a beating upon the woman's shoulders from the head of the family, who could not make allowance for the liability of a block of soapstone to crack at unexpected time and place.

Once finished and put into use, these utensils, by the two agencies of exposure and fire, attained a hardness still attached to the massive stone.

which has preserved many specimen which has preserved many specimens intact through all these years. Some ingenuity and originality were exercised by the Indians in making the soapstone articles. Mortars were of various shapes, some deep, some shallow, many with private and tribal marks cut in their sides, while the pestles with which the grain was pounded vary much in shape and ornamentation. mentation.

pounded vary much in shape and ornamentation.

Upon the sides of the great mounds of steatitic rock above Pots Valley, and nearly on the crest of the mountain ridge, strange workings had at some early day been cut, but the elements had so far served to obliterate them as to proclude the deciphering or copying of the hieroglyphics. These marks, to gether with the broken ware found about, and the partly-shaped mortars which yet remain attached to the parent rock, were objects of much interest to the scientific members of the party, and even the others became so imbued with the enthusiasm that on the party's return down to the steamer all were loaded with specimens they had collected.

The only perfect and unbroken speci-mens of the Indian pottery have been found imbedded in the earth at various localities on the island, presumably where the Indians had their camps, and frequently in graves, where the personal belongings appear to have been buried with the departed citizens. The sites of these camps were usually, if not always, in the beautiful valleys, which abound in Catalina, where little streams wind their way through cooks and trees. wind their way through rocks and trees and tangled underbrush to finally merge and tangled underbrush to finally merge their waters in the salt ocean. The In-dians who dwelt upon the island must have lived in a para-dise, with abundance of game and fish and all that their savage natures could require. How long ago they ceased to live here and whither they have gone no one knows.

they have gone no one knows.

The unscientific members of the exploring party returned from the search, but the mineralogist, finding the field o extensive and rich for investigation, will remain throughout the week, and will probably discover many unknown about the region which has so many claims to popularity.

SEWING FOR ORPHANS.

A Profitable Day Put in by the Unity Aid

There was a general rally down at the Orphans' Home yesterday, when over sixty ladies, representing the Unity Ladies' Aid Society, the Asbury Methor dist, First Methodist, Congregational, Presbyterian and Christian churches. gathered with thimbles and needles to sew for the orphans. Yards and yards of red flannel were made up and a number of comiorist sied. At noon the ladies went down to the dining-room to see the orphans file in to their noonday meal. It was an impressive sight when at the tap of the bell from the superin tendent, the 140 little heads reverently, and as many little voices chanted their thanks to the Giver of all The new superintendent, Mrs. Clark, installed on January 1, is doing splendid and most satisfactory work. After the dining-room was cleared the ladies spread the lunch they had brought, and wo long tables were surrounded by the busy workers.

A trip through the home reveals the fact that some new bedsteads are sadly needed, as some of those in use are lumbering wooden cots which, beside being most ungainly in appearance, cannot be kept in as nealthful condition as the neat, light, iron bedsteads with which a part of the dormitories are already furnished. It has been sug-gested that if the children of each sested that if the children of each Sunday-school in the city would contribute a nickel apiece the mites would be sufficient to put in a bed representing each school in the city. The Ladies' Aid Society of the church represented by that Sunday-school could furnish as their part the bedding for the same, and thus each school could contribute. and thus each school could contribute one bed. As there are about fifty schools in the city, these contributions, while individually small, would amount to something handsome. It would in-stil a beautiful lesson of giving, too, in the children to whom fortune has been

The Santa Fe Makes Another Cut in Freight Rates.

Dried Fruit Will Go for a Dollar a Hundeneral Railroad News and Personal Mention-Scrap Heap,

C. O. Whittemore, an attorney of Salt Lake City, and also chairman of the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce Committee on Railroad Extension, is in the city on important business, which, it is stated, will keep him here a week or two. Mr. Whittemore was vesterday in close conference with General Manager T. B. Burnett and General Counsel T. E. Gibbon, of the Los Angeles Ter minal road. It is presumed that the subject of a railroad which shall connect the metropolis of Southern California with the metropolis of Utah was discussed ore or less at this meeting, though no information regarding the matter is available. When a Times reporter remarked to Mr. Burnett that it was available. about time to push the Salt Lake road through, that affable gentleman smiled and said that railroad projects some-times progress better when they do not get into the newspapers. He had learned that, in this county real estate increases in value, not merely 100 per cent., but even 1000 per cent., when its owner suspects that a railroad company desires to acquire it. Mr. Whittemore said that people up his way were about the same—they all loved railroads and were eager to make as much as they could out of them. In the absence of anthoritative information, it is safe to conjecture that before Mr. Whittemore returns to Salt Lake he will have obtained some Important information re-garding the prospects of Los Angeles aid for the desired new railroad connection.

THE PREIGHT-RATE WAR. Two important moves in the war of astbound freight rates were made yesterday. Freight Agent W. H. Davenport, of the Union Pacific, received telegraphic information from headquarters that the 75-cent rate on canned goods, on brandy, from California points to Chicago would, on the 16th inst., apply also to Salt Lake, Cheyenne, Denver, Trinidad, Fort Worth and all points on the Union Pacific east of Cheyenne, La Salle and Denver.

The Santa Fé lines yesterday issued a new special joint-tariff, quoting a rate of $1 per hundred pounds on dried fruits in boxes, kegs, barrels, casks or sacks from all points on the Southern California road to Chicago, Pekin, East St. Louis, Ill., Fort Madison, Iowa, St. Louis, Kansas City, St Joseph, Mo., Atchinson, Leavenworth, Kan., and Denver. Colo., and points intermediate therewith on lines of the Atchison system, including the St. Louis and San Francisco Bailway. This is a reduction of 40 cents on the former tariff, and be-comes effective on the 15th inst. As this commodity is not one affected by the clipper-ship competition, the latest action of the Santa Fé constitutes an offensive move against the Southern Pacific

The freight war is demoralizing shippers as well as the tariff, there being a current opinion that if the fight continues much longer the rates will be cut even more, and they are not eager to use the present rates while hoping that even lewer ones will be available in the near future. A traffic man said yesterday: "The Santa Fé is 'playing to the grandstand.' In Chicago that road's officials give it out that the lifty-cent cut was made to protect that city from the rapacity of the Southern Pacific; in Los Angeles they say the rate was made to give Southern California an advantage over the North. The establishing of the fifty-cent rate has scared off business, for shippers are daily expecting that the rates will either go lower or be restored. The seventy-five-cent rate was put on to stay and shippers could have always counted on it, but with a war on there is no telling what will happen within the month. BCRAP HEAP.

TROUBLE IN PROSPECT.

San Juan Miners Tresspassing Upon the Navajo Reservation. For some time past there have been rumors of trouble likely to occur be tween the Navajo Indians and the white miners who are flocking over the borders of the reservation as a result of the San Juan gold excitement. The Examiner of Wednesday prints an interview with a miner by the name of J. P. Bernitt, who has just returned from that country, after disposing of his claims. Bernitt states that trouble between the Navajoes and whites is bound to occur sooner or later.

"I have been in the country," he said,
"and know that it is rich. It is hard to tell just how many men are now in the San Juan and Navajo countries, but some place it as high as 40,000. Be-sides this, hundreds, are going in every day. They are getting in from the south, through Arizona proper, and also through Colorado. The Navajoes don't like it, and there will be trouble; now you mark my words.
"The Government recently threw open a portion of the Navajo reserva-tion, how much I do not know, but it is the rich lands next to the Colorado River and toward the San Juan. It was done very quietly, and immediately 400 placer claims were located.

"The people who located them, and hundreds more, are now in there. The Indians are mad about it. The prospectors, not satisfied with staying on the opened part, are flocking to the reservation proper. This is sure to cause great trouble.

"The part of the reservation that was thrown open was done so in a per-was thrown open was done so in a pe-culiar way. It was represented that it was no account, that there was no gold there. Just the instant it was done the 400 claims were filed.

"There is a tribe of the Indians there known as the Blacksmith Indians. They are called this because they have worked out big bracelets and all kinds of ornaments from metals. Some of these are of gold, others of silver, and others of copper and very heavy. This shows the richness of the country.

shows the richness of the coun The mineral was all obtained there. "When I left Arizona the Navajoes were very discontented and indignant. I am an old prospector, and have been many years on the frontier among the Navajoes, Utes, Apaches and other tribes of Indians, and am not alarmed easily. I have no doubt there will be easily. I have no doubt there will be serious trouble, and people may just as well expect it."

The army officials at headquarters here have as yet received no intimation of immediate trouble with the Indians, although they are of the opinion that discontent and bloodshed will surely arise if the reservations are trespassed upon by the miners or other persons. In fact, to that cause is attributed nearly all of the more recent difficulties with the Navajoes. Settlers are constantly trying to encroach upon the redmen's rights by extending their property lines across into the fertile acres of the reservation, and unless that is stopped there is every indication of a Navajo uprising.

From our regular New York Fashion Correspondent]

The "baby cut" of low neck is always pretty. Indeed, a cut that shows just the pretty soft neck, as does the one pictured, is the prettlest finish for the old-fashioned Kate Greenaway sort of gown that is being worn by people who happen to have grandmother dresses to make over. Such a cut is more childlike and sweet if a row of old-fashioned beads are tied about the throat. Contrary to usual directions, I will assure you that only a very pretty neck should wear, a necklace. Ornamentation al-ways serves to call attention to its immediate surroundings, and if a neck-lace is worn on an ugly, scrawny neck-w ll, it would better have been left at home. On the other hand, the firm white roundness of a pretty throat seems only the whiter and prettier for the line of old-time beads prettier for the line of old-time beads about it. The girl whose style of face might easily be severe softens the effect by such a method of dress, and by wearing her hair colled simply and softly and having it loose about the forehead line. Of course, care must be used. If the style of the face is distinctly severe or aerious, or—shall we say it?—plain and unattractive, such a dressing would only emphasize its fault. say it?—plain and unattractive, such a dressing would only emphasize its fault. We all know the 'old maid' of the stage who makes herself worse by a girlish fashion of make-up. So, I say, care must be used. Many a face passes for plain or severe merely because its tendency in that direction—only a tendency, at most—is rendered an emphatic reality by excessive severity of environment in dress and mode of wearing the hair, as well as in the expressenvironment in dress and mode of wear-ing the hair, as well as in the express-sion of the face. Study yourself and adapt your wear to suppress that which is least of value in your face, and to emphasize only the good points. This is not vanity, it is only a due regard for the happiness of love you.

THE COURTS.

Judge Shaw Upholds the Dignity of His Court.

A Litigant Who Disobeyed His Orders Fined and Imprisoned.

Sensational Episode During the Trial of Burglar Burke.

Liar in Open Court—The Usual Routine Civil Business—New Suits-The Calendar.

Judge Shaw was occupied yesterday in the trial of the case of M. Lopzich vs. M. Hreciach, an action to dissolve a partnership existing between two Slavs who conducted a restaurant on Court street, but the matter was not concluded and went over until today.

The most interesting part of the pro ceedings, to the spectators at least, was the examination of the defendant, M. Hreciach, who had been cited to appear and show cause why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt in having insolently disobeyed the orders of the Court. Amdavits were read to the effect that pursuant to the modified order of the Court of January 10 last Receiver—John Wirsich employed both plaintiff and defendant on the premises in controversy, but that defendant refused to allow his partner to enter the place, and when expostulated with, said that the business belonged to him, and he would see the Court in hades before he would leave it. The defendant being unable to purge himself, was duly adjudged in contempt and ordered comitted to the County Jail for five days, with the addition of a fine of $100. BURGLAR BURKE ON TRIAL.

In Department One yesterday Jack Burke, an ill-looking individual, appeared before Judge Smith and a jury for trial upon the charge of having, on October 17 last, burglarized the grocery store of W. Scheendkert on East First street, Boyle Heights. He was represented by Messrs, Brooks and Ladd, while the prosecution was con-ducted by Deputy District Attorney J.

R. Dupuy.

The jurors selected to try the case The jurors selected to try the case were J. H. Barnhill, D. Bayles, L. C. Clark, W. Dockstader, I. V. Draper, E. W. Failor, A. F. Gilmore, H. Hood, N. H. Hughes, J. B. Lawrence, J. A. Paxton and L. M. Russell.

The following witnesses were examined for the prosecution: W. Scheenckert, W. G. Robinson, F. O. Innes, G. Siler, and Officers J. R. Home and A. O. Benson. Their testimony was to the Benson. Their testimony was to the effect that Burke had been hanging around in the vicinity of the store for some days prior to that upon which the offense was committed. That on the evening of October 17 he was seen in allown near by the grocery, by saveral saloon near by the grocery by several of the witnesses, and to one, F. O. Innes, he admitted that he was going to break into the store, and threatened to crack his head with a hatchet if he refused to assist him in the job. The result was that Officer Home was notifled, and arrested Burke before he had time to carry off any of the plunder he was after.

While the witness Innes was giving his testimony Burke created a sensa-tion by jumping from his seat, grab-bing a glass pen-holder, and shouting out excitedly, "You're a

The Court severely reprimanded the defendant, and J. Marion Brooks, Esq., offered to withdraw from the case then and there, but Judge Smith exonerated him from all blame in the premises, and the case was proceeded with.

The defense attempted to prove an alibi through the medium of Dick Woods and the defendant, but it was not as successful as had been antici-

The matter was finally submitted to the jury at 4:30 o'clock.

Another Death from Glanders. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon second death occurred in this city from glanders contracted while handling norses afflicted with that disease.

In this case I. le Gier, who has been working in the street department, was the victim. He died at his residence, No. 116 South Griffin avenue, notwithstanding the fact that he was ably at-tended by Drs. Carlisle and Carson and Health Officer MacGowan, who did all in their power to save the poor fellow's life.

The horses from which deceased contracted the disease were kept on his premises, and were killed and burned by order of Dr. MacGowan two weeks ago, and every precaution taken to keep the disease from spreading, and.

T takes but a few words to say it. We have about 150 dozen fine All-linen Towels; some of them are soiled; they were marked down from 75c to 50c, from 65c to 45c, from 50c and 60c to 35c and 40c. Now today you may take your choice for 25c each; they are soiled, that is the only reason, that is the whole story. Better get in early; you never saw the like before; it took two years to soil these goods; it will take one day to close them. Ours must be the cleanest and brightest linen stock in California, even if we sacrifice the profit; our reputation in the Linen Department is at stake. You know we show goods with pleasure whether you wish to purchase or not. believe in treating the public right; it pays. We say Dress Goods; it means we are selling the dollar-fifty and dollar-twenty-five quality All-wool Black Dress Goods for a dollar; the dollar quality for seventy-five cents; Fancy Weaves, Henriettas and Serges; the seventy-five cent grade for sixty cents. Money-saving sale. We say what we mean in an advertisement as well as to you when you visit the store. Here is another truth: Cloaks were $10, were $9, were $8. were $7, now $5.00; this is a five-dollar cloak tip to you in the largest cloak room in the city. Selling more cloaks than all other cloak houses combined—full of meaning. Odds and ends comprise above lots; all new and desirable this season Where else can you do as well? We revert to the Dress Goods Department again. All wool and a yard wide; nice, stylish goods, equal in many respects to goods at double the price—we mean the 50c line. A little odd lot of fine Imported Wool Goods for 55c. you will appreciate them the more when you see the quality. Have you visited the Pocketbook Counter—25c, 50c, 75c, $1; four of the best lines east or west. Royal Worcester Corsets; we sell them because they are the best; long, medium and short waists.

Handsome Japanese Glove Boxes given free to every purchaser of one pair of Kid Gloves. Who else will treat you as well? We seek good will; it means a large increase in trade. Last year's sales showed the largest gain ever made by any dry goods house in this city, and growing today faster and better than ever.

A special advantage will be given to the purchasers of this issue of bonds only.

Investments can be made for periods of time to suit purchasers of from six months to fifteen years.

Personal Guarantee

equal to that of the best banks will go to each purchaser of the first $100,000 of these bonds; consequently all moneys invested as above will be as safe and as sure to be paid at the time agreed upon as if deposited in any savings or commercial bank.

Inasmuch as the greater portion of this road has been constructed without the issue of bonds, the above amount is all that will be necessary to issue until the road is sumiciently completed to go into operation for ireight and passenger traffic.

All mountain railroads are paying large dividends, ranging from 15 per cent up to 30 per cent, but the Passadena road has this advantage over all others, that it can be operated during every month in the year, and has a larger and more prosperous local population near its base than any other mountain road.

A Large Audience Assembles to Hear Prof. le Conte.

Local Happenings of Public Interest-Cur rent Events at the Raymond-Personal Items of Interest and Brevities.

The seating capacity of the Universalist Church vestry was taxed to its utmost yesterday morning to accommodate the peo-ple who assembled to hear Prof. le Conte, the noted scientist and member of the fac ulty of the University of California. Prof. le Conte came to Pasadena in response to an invitation extended by President Keyes of Throop University, and primarily to ad-dress the students of this institution. The audience, however, was not limited by any means to the scholars and teachers, but included a large number of representative people from the town and vicinity. The appearance of the distinguished vis-the appearance of the distinguished vis-tion was the signal for enthusiastic ap-plause, and when he arose, after a happily-worded introduction by Prof. Keyes, there was more clapping of hands. Prof. le Conte stated that the matter of an address Conte stated that the matter of an address had taken him entirely by surprise, and that he was not one of those nimble-minded people who can speak on any subject at any time. He, however, had been prevailed upon at the last moment to repeat a portion of the lecture delivered the previous evening in Los Angeles on the subject of "The Ice Age of California," a brief synopsis of which appeared in yesterday's issue of THE TIMES. For an hour the speaker held the close attention of the audience, and at the conclusion of his remarks many stepped forward and were introduced. stepped forward and were introduced. Prof. le Conte returned to Los Angeles in the afternoon.

With Mrs. B. E. Kensley of Providence, R. I., and Miss Hattie Bain of Kenosha, Wis., at the helm, a very enjoyable evening was spent Wednesday at the game of progressive euchre. The prizes contested for were, among the ladies: First, a Raymond souvenir, white wood jewel case; second, a book of California wild flowers: second, a book of Cantornia win nowers; third, a hand-painted china bowl. The gentlemen's prizes were: First, a Ray-mond souvenir white wood medicine glass: case; second, a hand-painted enameled cover blotter; third, a pair of manzanita cuff buttons. When the corner's cheery wel-come call sounded, and the ladies and gentlemen had taken their places in the cost circle in the music-room, it was seen that the following guests intended to strive for

SEE THE OWNER FIRST. This is the time of year when the fast-ripening oranges catch the eye of the Eastern visitors and tourists and are for-with plucked from the trees by the same without price or permission. It is the most natural thing in the world for a recent ar-rival from the snow-bound Eastto want to pick an orange or two from the tree that happens nearest, a privilege which is seldom denied by the owner if properly sought. The practice, however, of walking into anybody's yard or orchard and taking fruit without so much as asking leave is becoming too common and has a tendency to make the owner grow hot under the collar. Let the visitor who wants to enjoy the satisfaction of picking a little tropical fruit from the tree politely ask the owner's permission and he will get it every time. The noticeable absence of fences hereabouts seems to lead some people to believe that everything is public property.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY.

Disgraceful Affair on State Street—The Storke-Den Suit.

A very disgraceful affair occurred at a late hour Wednesday night, the particulars of which, if known, would convulse Santa Barbara society. A party of eight young men, the majority of high social standing, were making such a loud disturbance on State street that a policeman tried to quiet them and induce them to disperse. They turned upon him and handled him very roughly and not very valorously, consider-ing their superior numbers. They answered for the offense in the Police Court yesterday. C. A. Storke's suit against Nicholas Den and wife, to recover $299 for professional services, resulted in an award of $200 to the plaintiff.

A Man Arrested as a Tramp Identifled as a Murderer.

Wanted in Mono County for a Cold Session of the Editorial Association, SANTA ANA.

The citizens of Santa Ana were some what exercised yesterday, when they learned that a murderer had been con-fined in the County Juli for several weeks awaiting the arrival of the proper officers to take him back to where the cold-blooded crime was committed over six months ago. That officer arrived vesterday in the perso of M. P. Hayes, Sheriff of Mono county, who, when he saw the prisoner, said: "He is the man, I am sure. He is wanted for the murder of Thomas Leahey, a rancher, who lives near Mono Lake, Mono county."

In conversation afterward with the TIMES reporter, Sheriff Hayes said: Frank Revada, and I am positive that this Mexican is Revada, although he says his name is Times reporter, Sheriff Hayes said: "Frank Revada, and I am positive that this Mexican is Revada, although he says his name is William Estrado, is wanted in Mono county for a cold-blooded murder. Last summer he worked for his victim on a ranch. He was worthless and was discharged. Shortly after he was discharged he plotted to kill his former employer, Mr. Leahey, foreman of the ranch for J. N. Evans. On June 5, Mr. Leahey and a friend of his were riding over the ranch on horseback, and when near a thicket Revada stepped quickly into the clearing, and, although he was fully two hundred and fitty yards away, sent a Winchester ball through the heart of his employer. Mr. Leahey's friend saw Revada just as the shot was fired, but too late to warn his companion of his imminent danger. Revada acknowledged to two different persons that he killed Leahey, so that now it remains but to prove that this Mexican, who claims he is William Estrado, is Frank Revada."

Marshal Nichols arrested Revada, alias Estrado, on the night of December 20 in the eastern part of the city in the old J. W. Gardner barn as a tramp. The features of the man next morning were considered peculiar, so the Marshal looked over his reward book, and when he found the description of the murderer of Leahey he returned to the jail and took another look at his prisoner. Belleving he was the man wanted for this crime he was researched, when a copy of THE TIMES was found in his inside coat pocket of August 24, in which was an article in regard to an arrest in Los Angeles by Lawson's detective agency of a Mexican who was supposed to be Leahey's murderer. This evidence was conclusive to the Marshal londing the same and the prisoner until the Sheriff of Mono county was at once communicated with, and a picture of Revada forwarded to him. Upon receipt of the photograph Marshal Nichols received a telegram to hold the prisoner until the Sheriff could arrive. Yesterday Sheriff Hayes arrived, and, after identifying his man, started on his return trip with him at 3 p.m

A large crowd gathered at the jail yesterday to get a glimpse at the murderer as he was brought from the jail to a cab at the foot of the steps. He was close-mouthed and would say nothing except that he could "no sabe" English.

A committee of three, consisting of Charles A. Smith of Los Angeles, Johnston of Santa Barbara and R. J. Pierson of Riverside, was appointed on resolutions. In the election of officers two were nominated for president, S. Craig of the Redlands Citrograph, and H. Z. Osborne of the Los Angeles Express. Mr. Craig was elected. The other officers elected were as follows: H. G. Finley, first vice-president; C. A. Bell, second vice-president; J. T. Johnson, third vice-president; C. H. Smith, secretary: J. W. Harvey, financial secretary: J. M. Martin, treasurer; H. A. Peabody, R. J. Pierson, Edgar Johnson, B. Z. Osborne and C. A. Gardiner, executive committee.

An amendment to the by-laws was introduced as follows, after which it was laid on the table until the next regular meeting: "The meeting of the Editorial Association of Southern California shall be held annually, the time and place to be selected by the Executive Committee, and the members to be notified of time and place at least thirty days prior to the date of meeting." After the business meeting a social dance was enjoyed until a late nour.

Yesterday the last day's programme was carried out by going to San Juan Capistrano, after having first visited the city waterworks and Orange county World's Fair exhibit in the early morning. About sixty or seventy-five editors and their wives and friends improved the opportunity of visiting the old mission and of partaking of a Spanish dinner, the hospitality of Don Marco Forster and Alcalde Egan. On the return train in the evening the editors proceeded on their way to their several homes, feeling that they had seen a considerable portion of Orange county, and the people of the county feeling that it was pleasant to have the visitors with them and hoping that the association would hold another meeting in this county at no distant date.

"Resolved, that we, the orange-growers of Tustin, do agree not to ship on consignment to the buyers, shippers and packers."
From the sentiment expressed in this meeting there seemed to be a determination on the part of the growers to do their own picking and pack in their own boxes under their own brand, whether they sold to shippers or not. In any event they agreed not to consign their crop.

SAN BERNARDING.

F. W. Richardson has submitted to the County Supervisors an itemized statement of the indigents being supported or aided by the county. From this it is seen that there are now twenty seven indigents over 60 years of age receiving aid from the public funds appropriated by the Supervisors, who get a total of $236.30, or an average of $8.75 per month for each individual There are forty-one orphans, half orphans and abandoned children receiving aid, for which $204, or an average of $5 per child is expended. There are six other indi-gents, who receive on an average of $10.33 each per month from the county treasury. These numbers and amounts do not include the poor in the County Hospital and the cost of keeping them. It is only of those in their own homes or the homes of others outside the poorhouse.

The paving is completed, or that portion of it on Orange and State streets included in the first and only contract let for street paving in this city. The work of cleaning the sand from the new pavement and filling the sand from the new pavement and filling the spaces between the bricks is not yet unished. And, when this is done. Orange street, north of State, will remain closed for some time, for the wooden bridge has been taken out, and the heavy iron girders are being put in place for the new and substantial bridge; for the construction of which Hughes & Mayer have the contract. The iron work of this bridge was to have been here about six weeks ago, but the Eastern manufacturers falled to meet their agreement, attributing it to strikes. It is hoped by the citizens that there may be no more delays in these improvements.

CRIME AND CRIMINALS.

A New Theory in Regard to the Safe-blowing—Petty Offenders. The mystery surrounding the blowing up of the safe in the office of Heywood Bros. & Co.'s furniture store on Upper Main and College streets at an early hour Wednesday morning has not yet been cleared up.

The police detectives are hard at work on the case, but as it is so far out of the ordinary run of burglaries, they are all at sea. Of course they have several theories, but the one first adopted, to the effect that it was the work of amateur cracksmen, has been about abandoned.

Even green hands at the business, unless they are double distilled fools, would know better than to put ten pounds of black powder in a safe and touch it off. The only thing that saved the building and everything connected with it from total destruction, is the of light material and windows. Had the building been of brick so that the powder could have been confined, it is believed that there would not have been one brick left in place.

The detectives are puzzled to know what object the parties who exploded the safe could have had unless it was to destroy the building and furniture stored in it. It is possible that the firm had enemies who were anxious to get even or something of that kind, but if there is any such an enemy no one connected with the firm knows who

It might have been the object of the persons to fire the building, but they could have accomplished that object with much less trouble. As it was, there might have been quite a fire had not Officer Goodman arrived when he did, for some of the papers and books in the office caught fire from the ex-plosion and were burning when he arrived.

The police are doing their best to unravel the mystery, and it is to be hoped that they will succeed.

Annoyed by Tramps.

The police, deputy constables and other peace officers are having their hands full at present looking after "vags" and tramps who have infested this city during the past few weeks. This class of undesirable citizens are flocking in from all quarters, and from half a dozen to a dozen of them are landed in the city and county jails

A large percentage of them are of the sneak thief order, and Chief Glass is very anxious to have people lock up carefully at night and not leave their houses alone any more than they can help.

..YOU..

That is what we have been doing. Since the first of the year we have had very little to say. Judging from the amount of business we did during the months of November and December, we don't suppose many of you need any addition to your wardrobe at present; but to those who are yet in need of clothes

WE WISH TO SAY

That this week we are naming prices that will benefit most any one to buy. On our front counters we have placed a line of suits for that are genuine bargains-same are now on display in our middle window. These suits represent at regular prices such values as $10, $12.50, $13.50, $15, $16.50 and $17.50. Some of our competitors in writing up an advertisement of this kid would tell you that they would give you goods at half price, but we never make any statements that we cannot

$8.85 AND $13.45

We are also making cuts in prices

all over the house.

HERE ARE SOME PRICES: Boys' Knee Pants, worth 50c......for 25c Boys' Waists, worth 35c.....for 20c Boys' Short Pant Suits, worth $5, for $3,95 Boys' Long Pant Suits, worth $10 for $7.50 Men's Underwear, worth $1.25 for 95c Men's Overcoats at REDUCED PRICES.

In conclusion we would say that no matter what any other clothier offers, we will go them ONE BETTER; this means WE WILL MORE THAN MEET ALL COMPETITION.

Just as of old, same as heretofore, we are first and foremost to knock the old spots off prices and replace them with new spot prices, sometimes cut in quarters, sometimes cut in halves. While Mr. Joglets tells of his wonderful doings and says samples cut on the polite plan, we are jogging forth with our January Joggings, carrying all before us—knocking 50c goods to 39c, pounding 10c Prints to 5c, squeezing $1.00 Silks to 65c; in fact, making the hair stand on end of all competition. This is all truth we tell you, only truth. If we were to tell you that "A year ago every store in the city was open every night," that would not be the truth. Every one would readily see that we were trying to tell you something that you well knew was otherwise; it would be folly.

However, is stamped with truth; every line can be relied on, and when we say that the jogs we tell you of are unapproachable, unobtainable elsewhere, it's the truth.
